Rejected Designs that were not used in the App

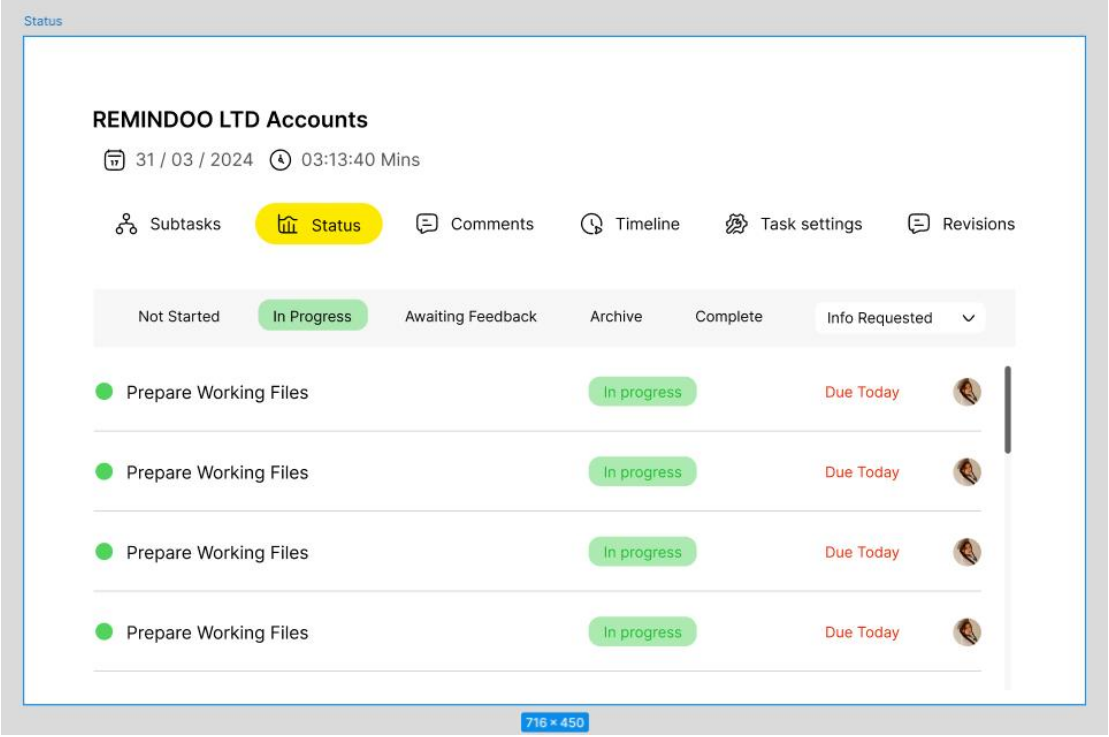

Task Details 1 is unusable, as it was late and we used the same formatting as the client module instead.

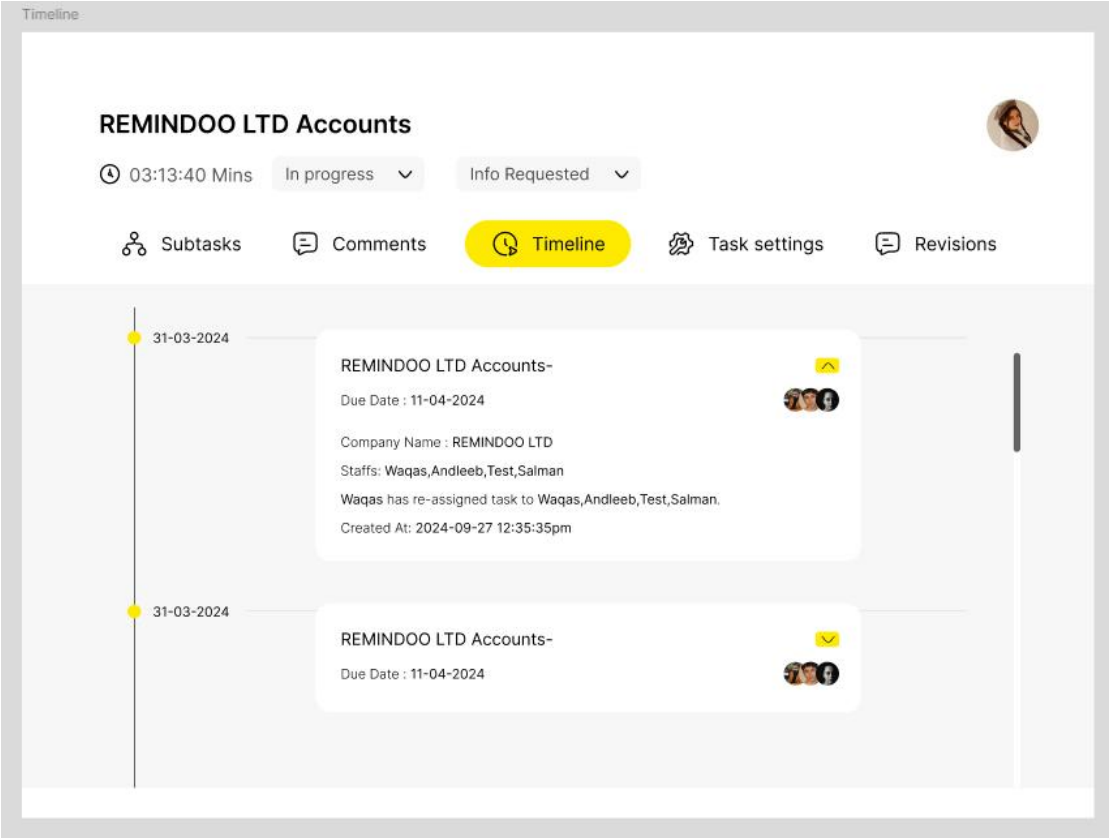

Task Details 2 is copied from the original Remindoo.

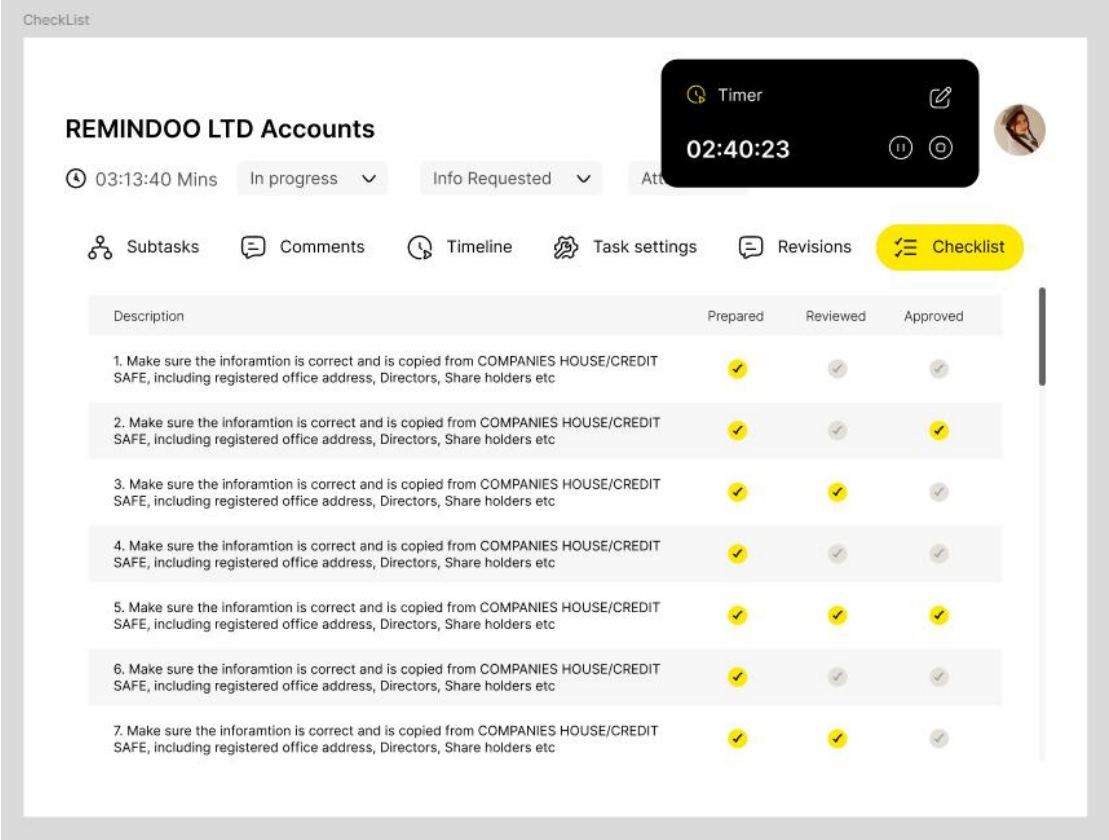

Subtasks are just lists of text, we had to review and explain multiple revisions, and had to remake the design ourselves in the end.

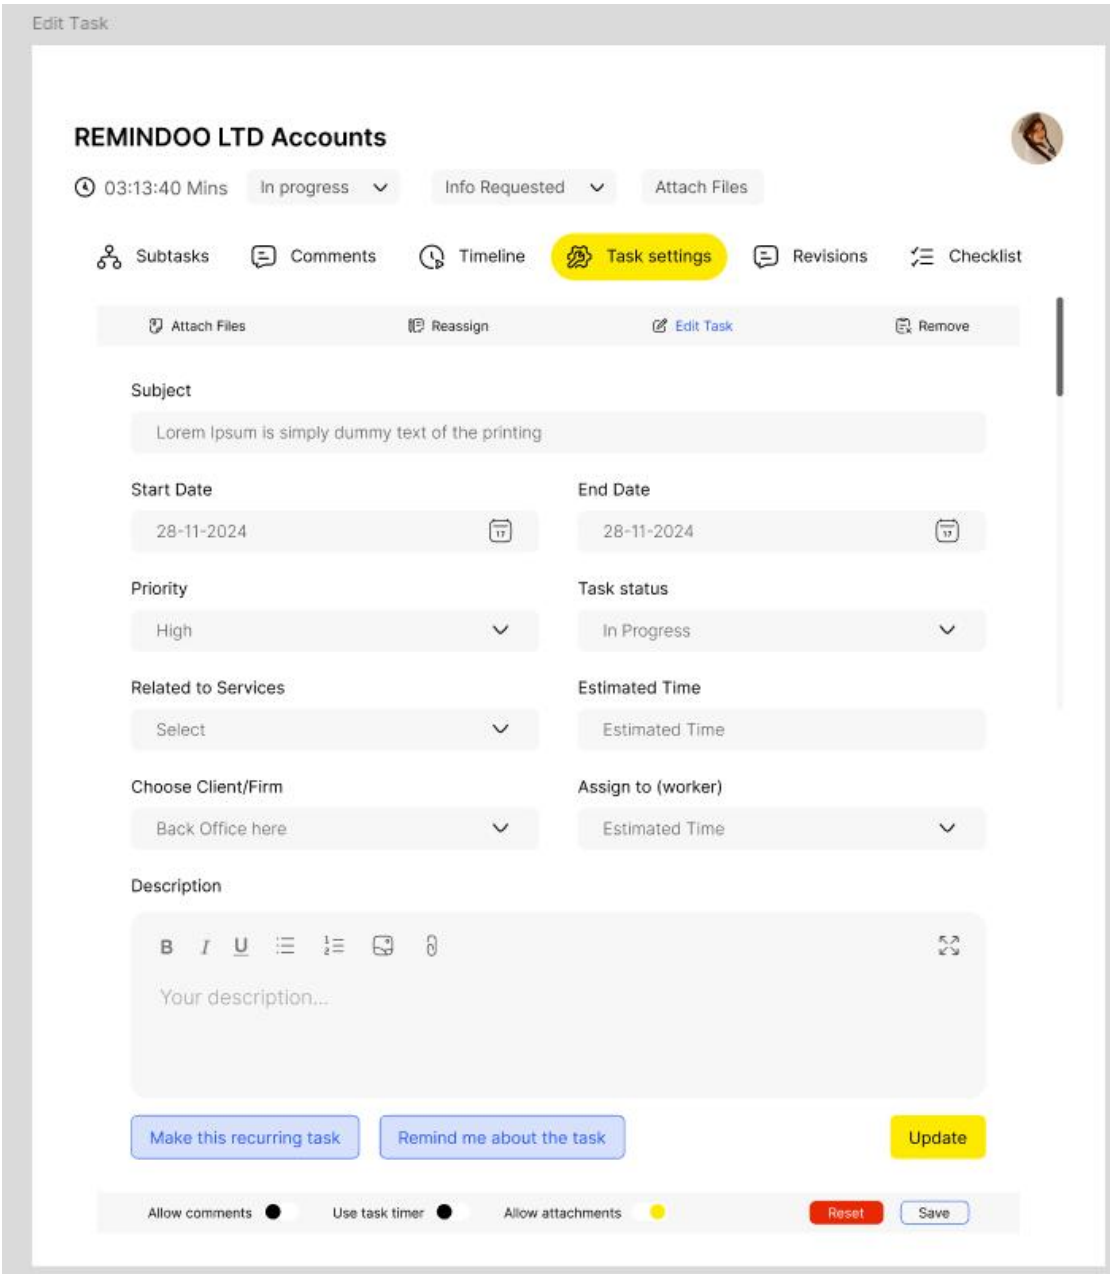

Status is unsuable, as it is not a page in the app.

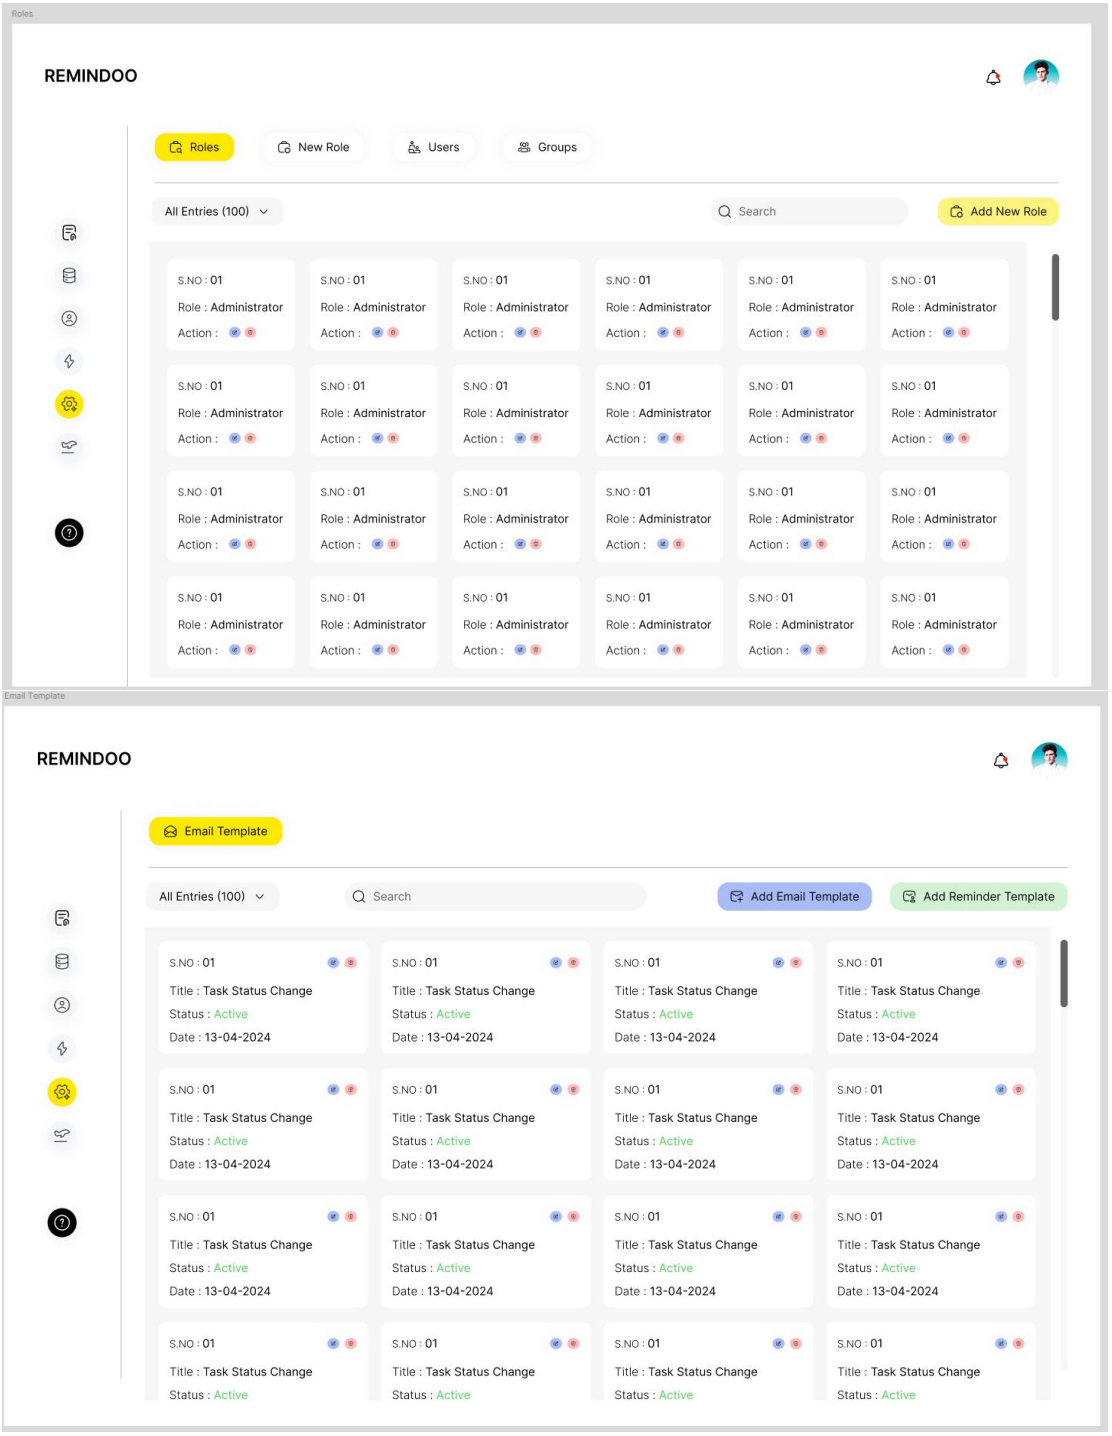

Timeline is the same as Remindoo, we had to remake the design ourselves. The only addition was the rounded pictures which were made by Kaim and instructed by the team for inclusion.

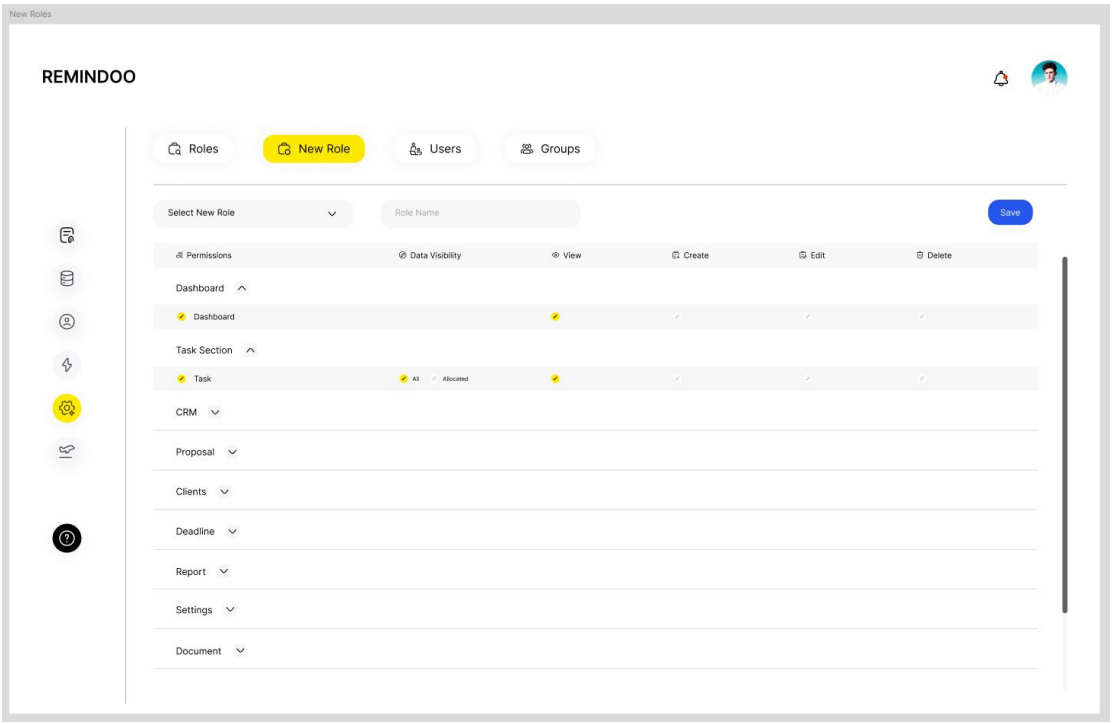

Checklist is the same as Remindoo. We had improve the design ourselves. The present design of the page uses a dropdown instead of 3 checks, which makes the user experience better by reducing the amount of elements on the page.

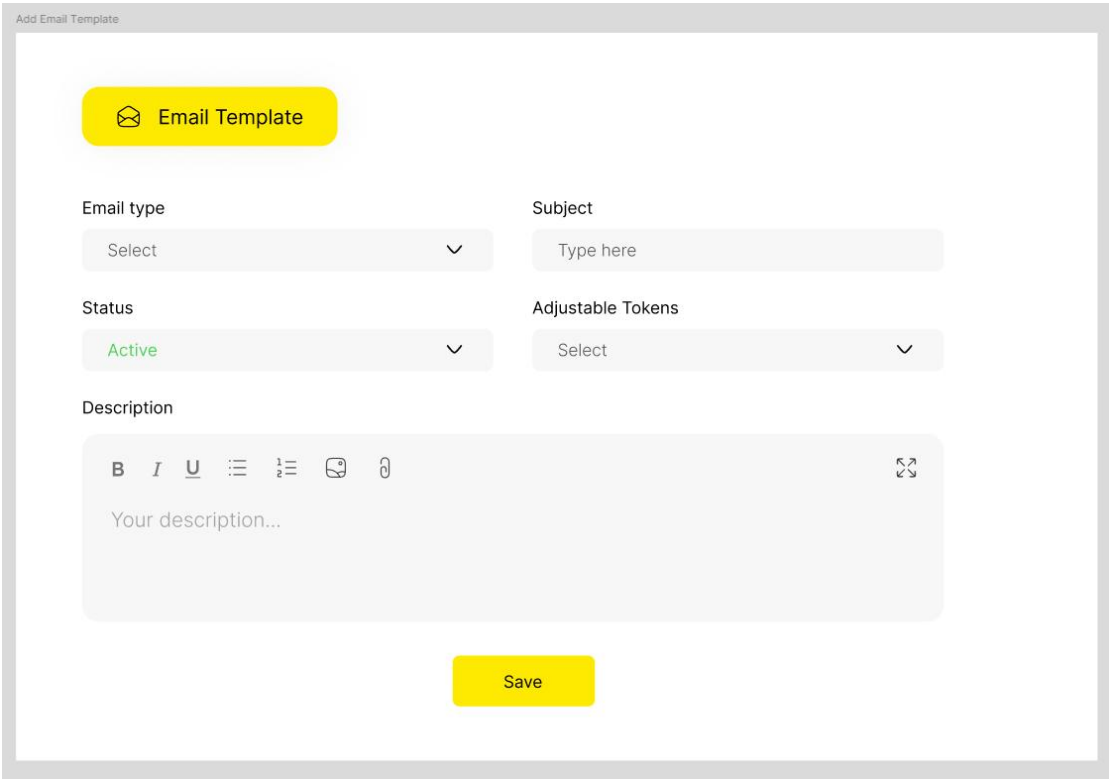

Edit task is the same as Remindoo. This was delivered late as well.

Roles is the same as Email Template, neither were usable and had to be redesigned ourselves.

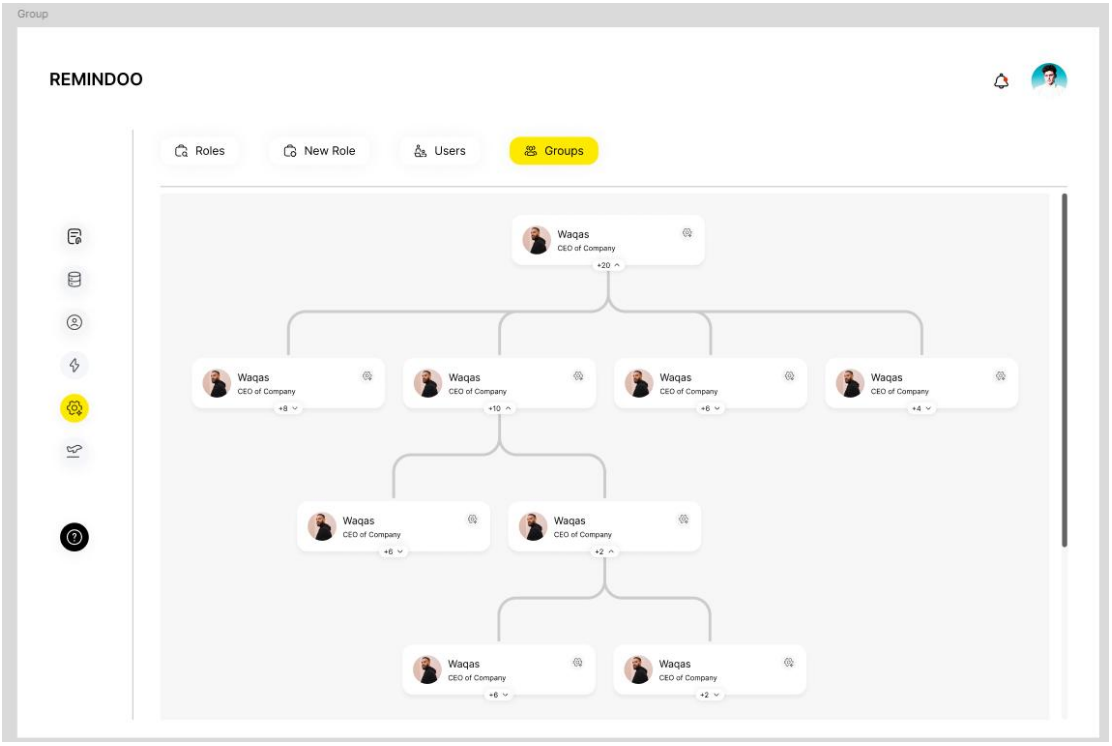

New Roles is copied from Remindoo.

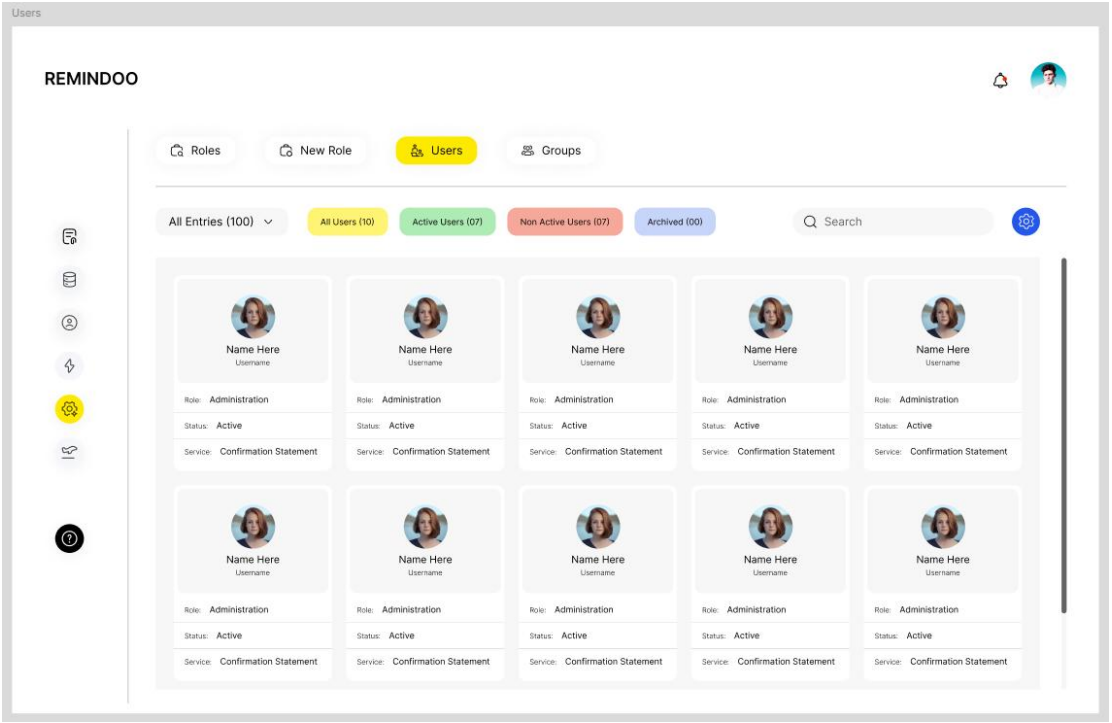

Add Email Template is unusable due to adjustable tokens being a list of usable texts, and the design above does not allow for a smooth user experience to repeatedly select tokens to be used in email templates. It had to be redesigned ourselves.

Accepted Designs that were used in the App

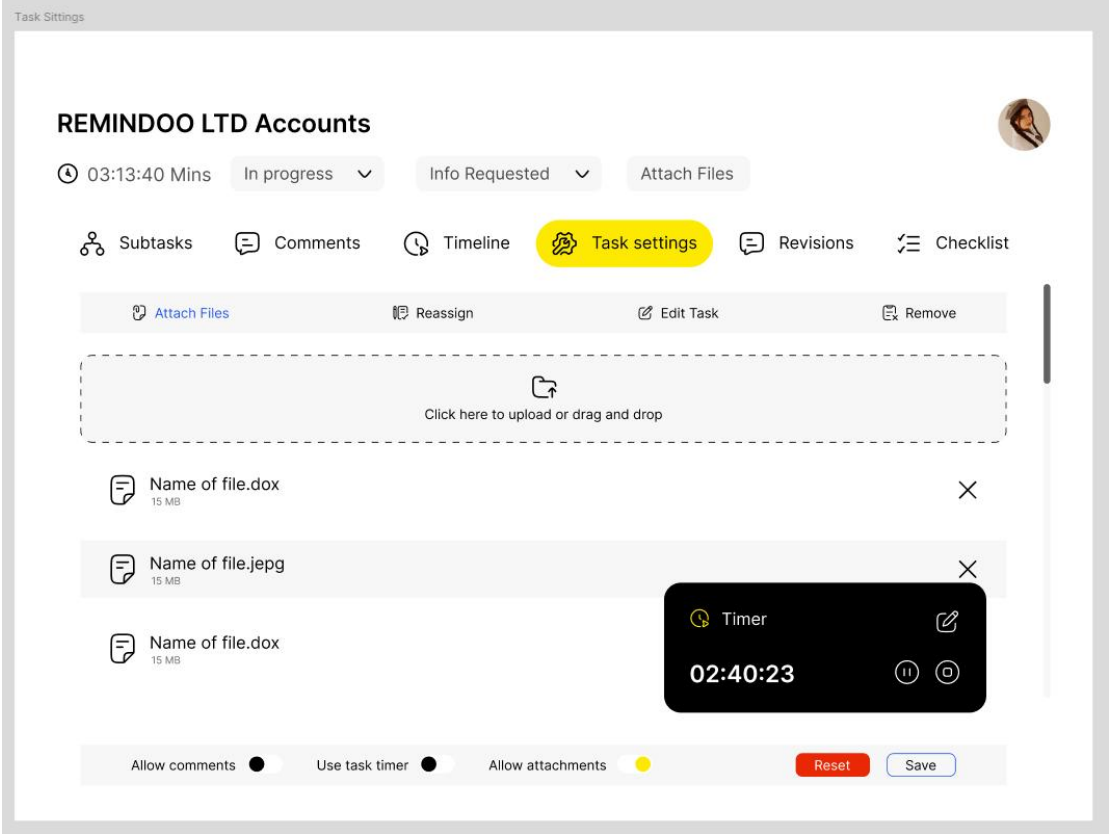

Groups was a great addition from the designer and was included as part of the settings module as the Organizational Tree page.

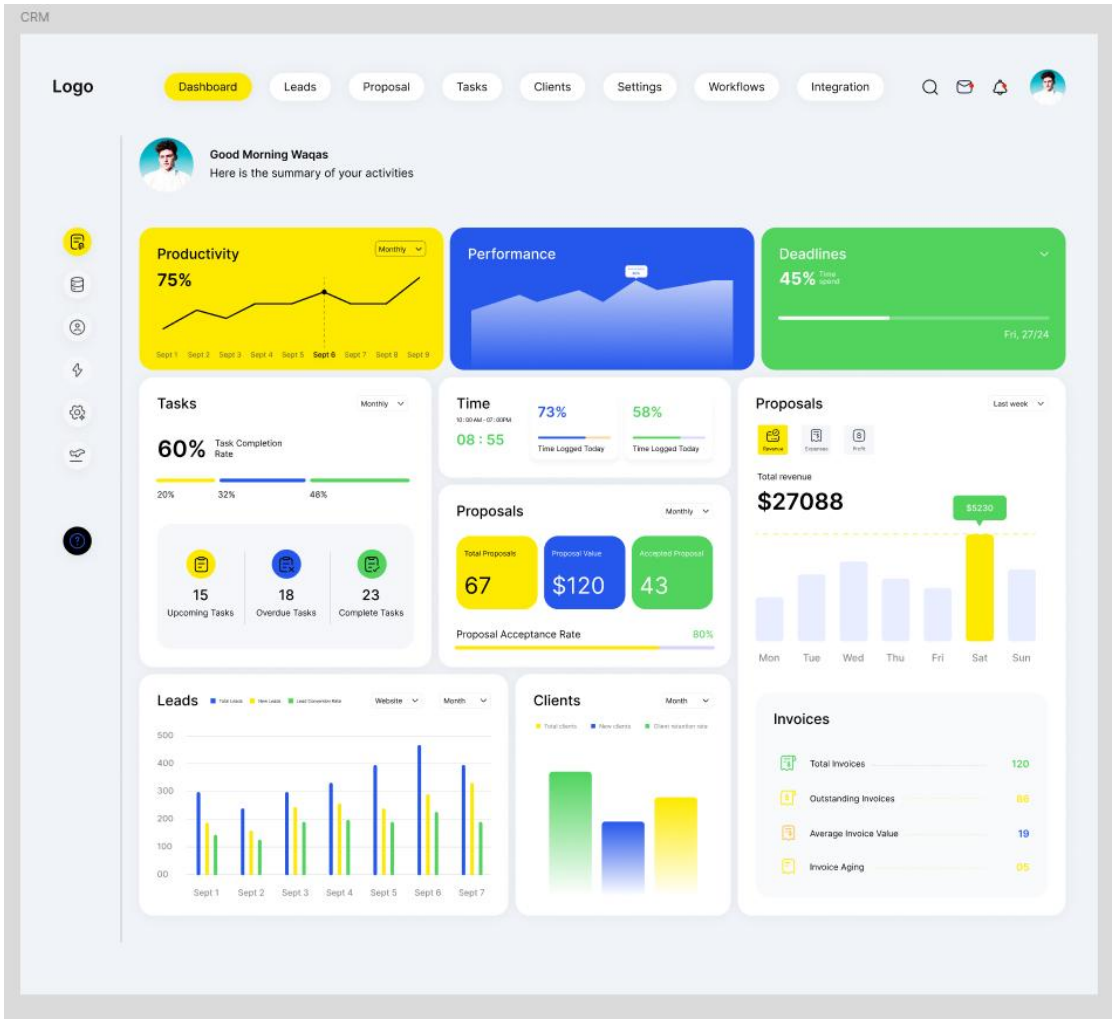

Users was also included in the Settings module as the Users List page.

Comments and Task Settings were included in the App as part of the Subtask preview in the Task Module. However, the Task Settings page was later removed as attachments are included in Comments now.

The CRM screen is used as our main page when using the App as the Dashboard page.
